"Our Last Time" by Neil Eash

*Four years of building up to one sad day of closing out my time with you.
One place you'll remain to be, inside my head I'll always see you there with me.
We'll be parting ways in a while. This countdown is fading my smile.*

*This could be our last day together.
No matter what you feel inside. No matter what you try to hide.
This could be our last time together.
You'll always live on inside my mind.*

*Close friends are wishing you the best of luck in all you do from when you leave.
Our time is up at EXC but living long are memories like Late Wendy's.
I wish we had more time. That's moving along with this line.*

*Time will pass, some memories fade. Regrets never cover up choices made.
Live on what you've learned. Never outbid your beliefs.
Waking up with each new day, letting go of former days,
Dreading each goodbye because now you realize why.*

*This will be our last day together.
No matter what you feel inside. No matter what you try to hide.
This will be our last time together.
You'll always live on inside my mind.*

“ENC has been a place where I have been able to better understand and recognize God’s call in my life. Jesus spent the last few years of his life among his disciples, teaching and instructing them how to live a life that is pleasing to God. Just before He ascended into heaven, Jesus left his disciples with the words of the Great Commission calling into action all that he had been teaching them. In much the same way, we have spent the past few years learning from our various professors. Now, as it comes time to leave ENC, we prepare to take the next step in answering our calls, all the while trusting that surely, He is with us always to the very end of the age.”

~Jonathan Batchelder

You know the scene. In Frank Capra's Christmas classic, It's a Wonderful Life, Donna Reed and Jimmy Stewart have just come from the high school dance, and they have been flirting all the way. Suddenly, the voice of an old man comes from the porch of a nearby house. "Kiss her," he yells. "What?" says Stewart. "Just kiss her," pleads the old man. While Stewart hesitates, the voice once again cries: "Youth is wasted on the young!"

If you are reading this, and looking at this yearbook, you are remembering. Whether you've just received your yearbook and the memories are recent, or you've found this volume on your bookshelf after many years, you are remembering the moments of 2002-2003 at ENC. And, if you are like me, you are thinking about how much you've changed since the events captured in this book. And, if you are like me, you may be tempted to quote the old man from It's a Wonderful Life.

I love the theme for this yearbook, for it reminds us that we have been called to a meaningful life, a life in service to God and others. If it is true that education is supposed to prepare you to do something, and higher education to prepare you to do something important, and liberal arts higher education to prepare you to think about important things, then I believe that a Christian liberal arts education is designed to prepare you to think about and do things of ultimate significance. In other words, to do meaningful work. So, your time at ENC was not about learning to make more money, or even learning to be happy. It was not primarily about you at all. It was about the call.

When you were a child, or maybe a young teen (I'm not sure - since I started teaching at ENC before you were born) there was a popular Christian song by Steven Curtis Chapman called "The Sake of the Call." The catch line was "We will abandon it all, for the sake of the call." In a time when many young people were being taught that there was nothing worth sacrificing for, nothing worth living or dying for, that song reminded all of us of why we were here and who we were called to be.

I wonder what you think about that, as you remember back by looking at the pages of this yearbook. You may be in your 20s, or 30s, or 40s, or beyond. No matter. It is not too late to respond to the call, to live a life of significance for God and others. As you look back through the pages of this book, and remember the people and events, also spend a few moments remembering who you really are, and who you have been called to be. It's not too late.

Grace and peace,
Mike Schutz

Farewell to

"Wherever God leads Mike, his vision will always be seen and most likely stretch far outside the local community. Even though God has called Mike to a new ministry, Mike has a passion for college students that will never fade. Personally, it's been a privilege to serve with and know Mike Schutz. He is a true servant of Christ."

This year the Nautilus Staff found it suiting to dedicate this book to not only one, but two of ENC's most loved who have passed away during the last school year. Both Rev. Lawson Saunders and Prof. Dan Shea have left an everlasting inprint on the ENC community, and will always be loved.

In Loving Memory
of:
Reverend Lawson "The Colonel" Saunders
Beloved long time member of the ENC Family

Colonel Saunders was a friend of mine. We got to take a few walks together, and on a couple occasions, I got to visit his apartment. Stories and songs of God's greatness and faithfulness streamed from his mouth, and wisdom and memories from his life as a pastor were often shared. Then there were the poems and songs. If you were on campus before this year, you probably heard an elderly man, singing old hymns very loudly. That was Colonel. And he was having fun. Colonel was a friend, a mentor, and an example of someone truly walking with God. He found joy despite of, and even related to, his old age. And he was always quick to remind people that they were special.

~Addison Cooper

In the last months of "The Colonel's" life, I made mention of the irony in having a coffeehouse that does not sell coffee appropriately named after a man that is not a colonel. He did not much look like the chicken guy either (the other Colonel). Mr. Lawson Saunders, like the coffeehouse, though appreciated by many was only depended on by a few. Those few I now think of as his lost boys. Each year one unsuspecting guy would ponder the old man's loneliness, thinking he needed a friend. However, it never failed, it was always the good-hearted young man that needed his guidance.

I do not think he had ever planned to stay as long as he did. However, I suspect he never thought to leave aside from death. I struggle to find the words for such a man. He was great in his own legendary way, and I am better knowing him. I think we all would want someone to say that about us when we pass on as well. On the surface nothing seemed special. In fact, at times he seemed to be nothing more than the "least of these" that Jesus had talked about. It was, however, a grave misconception. His gentle spirit invited the best of anyone's character to come forth. That is to say, people were better for being near him. This is not the better that people become when they are around old people and they do what they can to not be offensive, but authentic character adjustment that also had its moments of contagiousness.

~Michael J. Brennan

*"Go thou thy way, and I go mine, apart yet not afar
Only a thin veil hangs between the pathways where we are
And God keeps watch 'tween thee and me, this is my prayer.
He looks thy way, and He looks mine, and keeps us near.
I know not which way thy path may lead..."*

The Reverend Lawson D. Saunders, affectionately known as "the colonel", functioned for four decades as an unofficial chaplain to the students of Eastern Nazarene College. He first found that ministry as an older student during the decade of the 1940's. For six weeks during the fall of 1948, while I was bedridden with pneumonia, he came to my room each evening to offer encouragement, cheer, and prayer. Following his ordination to the Christian ministry, he served parishes in Canada and Maine before returning to this campus in 1966. For the next twenty years, he was employed by the college as a custodian. His work in the dormitories and the student center kept him in contact with students. His motto was "Don't be afraid to love and care about people." Students responded to his Godly walk and genuine love and concern for them by entrusting him with their deepest problems: spiritual, social or academic. At his memorial service, men rose all over the sanctuary to bear testimony to the great impact for Christ that "The Colonel" had had on their lives.

In Loving Memory of: Professor Daniel Shea (1950-2002)

Just as Thanksgiving was ending and the ENC community was starting to look ahead to the Christmas season, we received word that longtime professor of biology Daniel Shea lost his courageous battle with brain cancer. One of the most beloved faculty members in the history of ENC passed away as December 1, 2002 was coming to a close.

Dan was, at heart, a natural teacher; he loved his students who loved him in return. He won teaching excellence awards at both ENC and the University of Pittsburgh, and was responsible for literally scores of students entering medical and dental schools. There are doctors in hospitals all over the world today who owe their careers to Dan Shea. ENC'S biology department currently rides the wave of excellence that is Dan's legacy.

Beyond the lab and the classroom, Dan was a key member of several academic committees. He chaired the ENC Library Committee during the critical years when the new Nease Library was under construction. Dan's several accomplishments were recognized last year by the ENC Alumni Association, which presented him with an Alumnus of the Year Award. Dan is survived by his devoted wife and ENC professor of religion, Mary Lou, and a daughter, Samantha.

ENC has certainly lost one of its finest professors and human beings; but many of us have also lost a dear friend. Let me speak personally. Dan Shea and I entered ENC together in September 1968 and shared many experiences in those turbulent college years. Suffice it to say that Dan Shea was one of the most popular students during his time at ENC, never failing to listen to others and care about them; that was one of his special gifts, still present at the very end, as he struggled to form the words necessary to ask about how others were doing.

Dan and I also joined the ENC faculty at the same time in September 1977. We shared those experiences of hardship that are something of an ENC faculty member's rite of passage: long hours of class prep while completing doctoral work. We even moonlighted as janitors to supplement our modest starting salaries of $8200 per year.

I will always cherish two occasions in the late-1980s when we were both drawn to the beauty of God's Creation to help us get through some particularly difficult times. Dan and I climbed Mount Washington together; a year later we shared a canoe and tent in the Maine wilderness for ten days.

The pressures of professional life conspired against us in recent years; there just wasn't enough time. I kept telling myself that there would be more time to connect with Dan next month, next semester, next year, or maybe tomorrow. But tomorrow ended last night.

I am thankful, though, that God granted me the opportunity to tell Dan in recent days that I am forever grateful for his friendship.

-Donald Yerxa

I would like to start by saying how honored I am to be asked to speak about such an amazing man. Dr. Shea loved his family above all else on this earth. I feel like I know Mary Lou and Samantha, as well as all of his brothers personally because he used to tell so many stories about them all. From Mary Lou and her stories about being in the military, to one of his favorite memories of bringing Samantha to church with him and teaching her all of the children's church songs, to the stories about growing up on the farm with all of his brothers. How he got all of those stories to relate to biology I will never know. In preparing for this, I realized that there are not words sufficient to describe the impact that Dr. Shea has had on the lives of his students. He has made more of an impact on my life than any other professor both academically and personally.

One of my favorite memories of Dr. Shea happened last fall while prepping for a General Biology lab. It was a seemingly easy prep, that should have taken an hour at the very most. He was helping me because it was something that I had never done before. Things needed to be autoclaved and in teaching me how to use this piece of equipment it of course broke. Burning hot water spilled all over the floor; we had a mess! Instead of getting upset about this setback he simply looked at me, looked at the machine, and said, "Huh, now I wonder what made that happen." This happened a few more times, but even six hours and several buckets of mopped water later he was still smiling and upbeat about the whole ordeal, even though I knew that he had to have been at least a little frustrated.

I guess what I am trying to say is that I have never met a more compassionate, caring, and altruistic individual in my life. I thought that this would be a difficult thing to do, reflecting on his impact in my life, but when I started to write I realized just how much joy he brought to all of our lives and how lucky we were to have known him. I will miss his smiling face everyday and his constant encouragement. ENC is truly a lesser place without him. However, I believe that Dr. Shea has created a legacy that can be carried on by each of us who were lucky enough to know him. Thank you.

~A speech given at his memorial by Jen Glidden

*A Letter From
Dr. David McClung
President*

Dear Students,

Linda and I have really enjoyed our first year at ENC. The best part has been the opportunity to get to know you.

Not too long ago, I attended the 35th anniversary reunion for my college class. Dr. Cantrell, the president when I graduated, attended the celebration. He remembered many of us by name. He told about how his life has been enriched by observing the great contributions made by "his students."

As the members of the class of 1965 shared about their lives we noted with pride the number of our classmates who have become church leaders, missionaries, doctors, lawyers, teachers and other professionals. Many have made notable contributions to society. We also noted that many of us have remained in close contact over the years. Our friendships remain strong.

Still, when we got out the annual for 1965 and looked at the pictures we discovered that some of our classmates have been lost. No one present knew where they are or what they have done. After graduation, they went their own way and lost all contact with the class. How sad!!

I share my experience with you as an encouragement for you to stay in touch. Value the friendships you formed during your years at ENC. Keep them alive by staying in contact. Be an active member of the ENC Alumni Association. Plan to return to campus often, but make a specific commitment to return to your own class reunions every 5 years. I look forward to being here for your 35th anniversary reunion. It will be here before you know it.

Warmest Regards
J. David McClung,
President

Senior Class Council: Allie Erying (Chaplain), Nicole DeAngelo (Social Life), Jacqueline Ellwood (Administrative Assistant), Melissa Lowell (President), and Jarrod Spalding (Vice President)

Dear Seniors,

By the time you read this we will no longer be undergraduates. Some of us will still live in Quincy, some of us will have moved to other states and some of us will have even moved to other countries. However, I am writing this in February and it is hard to believe that in less than two months we will all be separated. I am too busy thinking about spring break (I hope the car doesn't break down), Senior Comps (I hope I passed) and finding a job (I hope I have one now!). I cannot believe that soon I will not be able to see all of you everyday-I probably won't see a great many of you for many years.

Even though I am unable to think about the future I can look back on the past. And I just want to take this moment to say how proud I am of this class and how grateful I am to be a part of this class. We have had a tough four years together. We have dealt with large faculty/staff turnovers, cancer, divorcing parents, death in families, physical problems, emotional problems, and many other painful situations. However, we have also rejoiced together through mission trips, the birth of new babies, chapel, the knowledge that graduation is right around the corner, and of course the joy of surviving EMES, West Nile and e coli! We have stood strong through pain, hurt and temptation. I know that God has been walking with us these past years to get us all to the place we are now-as Christians living and working amidst many who need to hear Jesus' love.

As you wake up every morning think of all that is under your belt and think of your accomplishments and remember this verse: "Not by might nor by power but by my Spirit says the Lord Almighty." Zechariah 4:6. The only way that we have gotten through our years at ENC and made it into the working world is because the Lord has helped and shaped us. When the world seems like it is a little too much to handle, look back on your successes and thank God for what He has done and trust that He will bring you through again! Until we meet again, God bless. Try not to forget what a world view is, and have fun!

Melissa Lowell

Who's Who - 2003

Who's Who is a nationally acknowledged program that selects the college's top students based on academic achievements, service to community, leadership in extracurricular activities, and potential for continued success. These twenty students were the worthy selections from Eastern Nazarene College. This title is not just a privilege, but a great honor.

Ryan Scott does his hosting thing.

Jarrod Spalding watches the crusaders take away another win.

Grace Brown shows off her silly side.

David Ardrey

For the past three years I've read seniors' Who's Who write-ups and wondered what I would write if I had the opportunity. I'm still wondering.

One thing I've learned here, is that where you are is solely dependent on what you make it. There have been times when ENC was the perfect place for me to be comfortable where I am, live in spiritual mediocrity, and hide in fear of those around me. I didn't make the decision or commitment to even look for anything more. Once I made that choice, however, ENC became a place where I was stretched and changed, spiritually, intellectually, and socially.

So don't be content with mediocrity. Make the most out of everyday. I'm sure I'm out there somewhere trying my best to do the same.

"I have not yet reached that goal, but there is one thing I always do. Forgetting the past and straining toward what is ahead, I keep trying to reach the goal and get the prize for which God called me through Christ to the life above." ~Philippians 3:13-14

Jonathan Batchelder

I am extremely grateful to Eastern Nazarene College for all that I have attained while here: the many great friends, an outstanding education that very few people in this world are fortunate enough to receive, and the amazing memories and experiences that have helped to make me the person that I am today. I would also like to thank my mom, my dad, and my step-dad, Duane, for helping to make this wonderful opportunity possible. My appreciation also goes out to all of my family and friends who have supported me all along the way. One of the many tremendous friends that I met here at ENC is someone that I anticipate being my best friend and partner for life: Michelle, thank you for always listening and being there during the more difficult moments and for rejoicing with me in the extraordinary ones. I look forward to all that is to come. To the numerous religion and philosophy professors that I have had here over the past four years, I offer you my utmost gratitude for instilling within me an unyielding search for truth and justice. Finally, I thank You, my God, for the wisdom and guidance that You have blessed me with in my time here at ENC, without which I probably never would have realized, among countless other things, my love of youth ministry.

Grace Brown

"Enjoy yourself! These are the good old days you are going to miss in the years ahead!"

College. I entered college with two left feet. Now, four years later, I am entering the "real world" (whatever that is) with two left feet and a bum leg (literally).

The top 5 things I've learned:

5. Don't be so anxious to grow up.
4. Procrastinate—sometimes your best work is done at the last minute.
3. Stick it out with your roommate—you might get a best friend out of the deal.
2. Contrary to what ENC statistics show, being engaged is not a graduation requirement.
1. Did you know that there is this amazing guy out there who has the whole world in his hands? His eye is on the sparrow, and I know He watches me. Yeah, take advantage of that.

-To Mom and Dad, you are the biggest blessing in my life. Without your love, guidance, and example I would never have gotten to this point. Thank you for showing me what it means to be steadfast in the Lord. You've been my rock these past three years.

-To Roisin, we've come a long way, beast! You do realize that God knew we'd be perfect roommates before we were even born? He knew we'd need each other these past three years! You are an incredible woman of God and I think you are beautiful in every sense of the word. Stay strong and remember the good times!

-To Shaun, my favorite memories involve you. Thank you for the love you've shown me, but more importantly thank you for the friendship you've given me. We came together during the worst times, and that's made us stronger. No matter what happens, our deepest root will always be in friendship. I love you, and who you are really is who I want. Remember that.

Angela Carr

"For I know the plans I have for you, declares the Lord, plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future." ~Jeremiah 29:11

God knows the plans for each one of us, even when we don't! I was a rebellious senior who didn't want to come to ENC - but God had other plans! I have been transformed and challenged over the past five years here at ENC, and God is still continuing to stretch and challenge me! God has opened my heart to missions and I desire to serve Him wherever He may lead me! It is so important to trust God, whatever plan He may have for us, because He knows what is best. I am still learning this lesson as I wait upon God to show me my next step in life. Being at ENC has shown me so much, but most of all—it has shown me the importance of loving God and trusting Him with all of my heart. To Him be all the glory!

Alanna Chochrek

In my years here at ENC, I have learned a lot, academically, personally, and spiritually. This community has been a place that has at times been my comfort zone, and at other times challenged me beyond where I thought I could go. It has become my home, and leaving will be difficult (saying goodbye to family is not an easy thing to do).

We live in a world in which grace does not count for much. Grades, jobs, leadership positions—all rely on merit, and so they should. Meanwhile, we are called, as Christians, to live out God's grace in this graceless world. As we leave here, my prayer is that each of us will become a channel for God's grace to flow through.

"We have to realize that we cannot earn or win anything from God; we must either receive it as a gift or do without it. The greatest blessing spiritually is the knowledge that we are destitute. . . we have to enter into His kingdom through the door of destitution." ~Oswald Chambers

Psalm 27

Jacqueline Ellwood

It's been a long time since August of 1999 when, as a scared freshman, I cried in the Quincy Wal-Mart parking lot and begged my mom to bring me back home. How was I to know then how much I would grow to love ENC and the people and Spirit that bring it to life? I can hardly believe how much has happened and how truly amazing the past four years have been. A huge thank you to the professors who have taught me so much, to the children whose lives have touched mine so deeply, to the friends with whom I have shared both laughter and tears, to Jillian for tolerating two years with her big sister on the same college campus, and to my mom for her unconditional love, support, and incredible example of constant grace. And to my Heavenly Father, thank you. . . You are so faithful! I look forward to exciting times ahead!

"To live content with small means; to seek elegance rather than luxury, and refinement rather than fashion; to be worthy, not respectable; and wealthy, not rich; to study hard, think quietly, talk gently, act frankly; to listen to stars and birds, to babes and sages, with open heart, to bear all cheerfully, do all bravely, await occasions, hurry never. . .to let the spiritual, unbidden, and unconscious, grow up through the common. This is to be my symphony." ~William Henry Channing

Jennifer Glidden

As I was looking back on the four years I have spent at ENC, I realized that the professors here have made a huge impact on my life. You have made an incredible difference not only in my academic life, but even more so on my spiritual and personal life. You took me in and made me feel very loved, as a member of your family. I would like to thank you for the impact you have made on all aspects of my life.

I would also like to thank my family for all of the support that you have given to me over the past four years. I could not have made it this far without your love and devotion to me no matter what my goals were. It has been during these four years that I realized what an amazing job you did of raising me. . . I have come to see some of those "hard life lessons" that you taught me pay off, and I love and respect you for that. Lastly, I thank and praise my Heavenly Father for being my steadfast provider and being at my side every step of the way.

"Do not be anxious about anything, but in everything, by prayer and petition, with thanksgiving, present your requests to God. And the peace of God . . . will guard your hearts and your minds in Christ Jesus." ~Philippians 4:6-7

Terrence Green

If someone would have told me five years ago that I would be here at ENC on the verge of graduating I would have laughed and said, "that's impossible." But God, in His awesome power, took what I thought to be impossible and made it possible for me to be at ENC.

I have had the time of my life here at ENC. Over the past four years I have been transformed from an ignorant little Jamaican kid to a well-rounded young man ready to take on the challenges of the world. I have grown academically through the classes and the professors. I have grown spiritually through chapel and other ministries on and off campus. I have come to realize some of the many gifts and talents God has blessed me with, and my desire to use them in fulltime ministry. The friendships I have made here at ENC are priceless, and I thank all my friends for their support over the last four years. I would also like to thank my family, my fiancé, Amber Wheeler, and God, for being my biggest fans during my time here at ENC.

"Finally, brothers, whatever is true, whatever is noble, whatever is right, whatever is pure, whatever is lovely, whatever is admirable—if anything is excellent or praiseworthy—think about such things." ~Philippians 4:8

Melissa Kenrick

"Although the Lord gives you the bread of adversity and the water of affliction, your teachers will be hidden no more; with your own eyes you will see them. Whether you turn to the right or to the left, your ears will hear a voice behind you, saying, 'This is the way, walk in it.'" ~Isaiah 30:20-21

God made it quite clear that ENC was where He wanted me for these past four years. Though I have not always understood it, and some lessons have been hard to learn, He has helped me see more and more his purposes for me on this earth. He has blessed me greatly with a great family (Mom, Dad, Christine, Beth and Jenny-I love you!), and an incredible friend and roommate (Heather, I don't know what I'll do without you!), and mentors who have helped me link both my love for literature and my faith (I am so thankful for you, Carl Winderl and Dr. KP!). I am thankful for my time at ENC.

Sara Mahoney

--"The most beautiful thing we can experience is the mysterious. It is the source of all true art and science." ~Albert Einstein
 --"That is what learning is. You suddenly understand something you've understood all your life, but in a new way." ~Doris Lessing
 --"Science is organized knowledge. Wisdom is organized life." ~Immanuel Kant
 --"The cloning of humans is on most of the lists of things to worry about from Science, along with behavior control, genetic engineering, transplanted heads, computer poetry and the unrestrained growth of plastic flowers." ~Lewis Thomas
 --"Always laugh when you can. It is cheap medicine." ~Lord Byron
 --"We did not change as we grew older; we just became more clearly ourselves." ~Lynn Hall
 --"I have never found the perfect quote. At best I have been able to find a string of quotations which merely circle the ineffable idea I seek to express." ~Caldwell O'Keefe

Jonathan Phillips

"I am no longer my own, but Yours. Put me to what You will, rank me with whom You will. Put me to doing, put me to suffering. Let me be employed by You or laid aside for You, exalted for You or brought low by You. Let me have all things, let me have nothing. I freely and heartily yield all things to Your pleasure and disposal." ~John Wesley

These words scared me the first time I heard them. Through these four years at ENC, I have grown to the point where, yes, I am humbled when I read these words, but I am also excited in all that God can do through my life when I freely yield all things unto Him, and that He will be with me in all circumstances.

It took a great deal of faith for me to leave Yoe, Pennsylvania to come to ENC four years ago. Who would have thought that I'd spend eight months in Sighisoara, Romania and a semester at European Nazarene College in Busingen, Germany? Through these experiences, I have discovered that I would rather be on the other side of the world serving God than in my comfortable American surroundings hiding from Him.

God has demonstrated countless times in my life his amazing grace. I am thankful that God has blessed me with a wonderful church, pastors, professors, and friends, but above all, my family, who has supported and encouraged me all of my life. Mom, Dad, Joseph—I love you.

Danielle Rasys

"Therefore, having been justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ, through whom also we have access by faith into this grace in which we stood, and rejoice in the hope and glory of God. And not only that, but we also glory in tribulations, knowing that tribulation produces perseverance; and perseverance, character; and character, hope. Now hope does not disappoint, because the love of God has been poured out in our hearts by the Holy Spirit who was given to us." ~Romans 5:1-5

"My son, if you receive my words, and treasure my commands within you, so that you incline your ear to wisdom, and apply your heart to understanding; yes, if you cry out for discernment, and lift up your voice for understanding, if you seek her as silver, and search for her as hidden treasures; then you will understand the fear of the Lord, and find the knowledge of God." ~Proverbs 2:1-5

"Love suffers long and is kind; love does not parade itself, is not puffed up; does not behave rudely, does not seek its own, is not provoked, thinks no evil; does not rejoice in evil, but rejoices in the truth; bears all things, believes all things, hopes all things, endures all things. Love never fails." ~1 Corinthians 13:4-8a

"Charm is deceitful and beauty is passing, but a woman who fears the Lord, she shall be praised." ~Proverbs 31:30

Kara Reiman

My life has not been easy. Even worse, I know that many of my fellow classmates can say the same thing. And in a world where the dysfunctional family is now the norm, there is only one constant left in our lives: God. Having God in my life is the only reason that I have made it this far and accomplished what I have. Without God, we are nothing; without Him, this life is meaningless. Although I haven't always been on the best of terms with God, and I still struggle daily, I know that He is with me always and will never leave me. Always rejoice in the fact that God loves us so much.

To my family: Mom, Dad, Phil, Mimi. Thank you. I love you.

To my true friends: You know who you are. Thank you for forcing me to come out of my shell. I look forward to our lives continuing to be intertwined. I will miss seeing you everyday.

"You, O Lord, keep my lamp burning; my God turns my darkness into light." ~Psalm 18:28

Layne Restrict

"I thank my God every time I remember you. In all my prayers for all of you, I always pray with Joy. Because of your partnership in the gospel from the first day until now, being confident of this, that he who began a good work in you will carry it on to completion until the day of Christ Jesus."

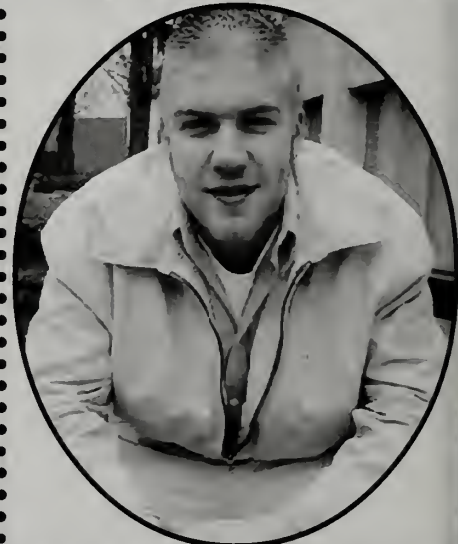

-Philippians 1:3-6

Jeremy Scott

There's a lot I could say about my experience at ENC, but not enough space. I would like to thank the support of those who have been closest to me while at ENC - Jeff & Joy, Dr. Henck, Mom & Dad, Meghan, and my Lord, Jesus Christ. I could spend a lot of time writing more for this, but I'm pretty sure that in every situation someone else has already said it better than I could:

Looking back at the road so far
The journey's left its share of scars
Mostly from leaving the narrow and straight
Looking back it is clear to me
That a man is more than the sum of his deeds
And how You make good of this mess I've made
Is a profound mystery
Looking back you know
You had to bring me through
All that I was so afraid of

Though I questioned the sky now I see why
Had to walk the rocks to see the mountain view
Looking back I see the lead of love
Looking back I can finally see
How failures bring humility
(I'd rather have wisdom and pain)
Brings me to my knees
(Than be a comfortable old fool)
Helps me see my need for thee
- Aaron Tate

Ryan Scott

I am truly grateful for the honor of being selected for Who's Who, especially because I spent my first few years trying to avoid being noticed. Eventually, I smartened up and took some responsibility. I want to thank everybody who helped me get to this point. Thanks to my parents who got me this far and "made me" come to ENC. I want to thank the faculty, especially Dr. Yerxa, for making me think and helping me grow. Thanks to my friends, for putting up with my unique, if not frustrating, personality. Finally, I want to thank God for seeing me through. He has a plan for me; I have faith in that. I may appear now to be a smart, talented, extremely handsome young man with no direction and no goals. And that may be true, but I will get somewhere and do something worthwhile. You just wait. Thanks for everything ENC, these were good times and I am forever grateful.

Michelle Sowden

I am so thankful for my time at Eastern Nazarene College, and the friends, education, and best friend for life I found. The past four years have given me so many incredible memories. It amazes me the changes and growth I have seen in myself since I came to college. During my freshman year, I experienced God's will for my life fold out before me when I changed my major. His will was confirmed this year during my student teaching experience and through the encouragement I received from my advisor.

I am also very grateful for you, Mom, Dad, Becky, Lynn, and Grandma, for believing in me, challenging me, and most of all loving me. I cherish the support you each have given to me.

I have recently realized, yet again, how quickly time goes by, as I have a new transition just around the corner. I have learned to place my trust in God and will continue to do so knowing He will lead me where I can be used for His glory.

Jarrod Spalding

My time in college at ENC can be summed up by these quotes:

"I think if I'd never met you, about all the things I'd miss."

and

"Friends are there to remind you how to fly when your wings have forgotten the way."

Thanks for making my life as special and as meaningful as it has been. Through the good to bad, the hard and easy, you all have been there. So thank you to my friends, my brothers, and my princess.

James Wilson

"May the words of my mouth and the meditation of my heart be pleasing in your sight, O Lord, my Rock and my Redeemer." ~Psalm 19:14

My time here at Eastern Nazarene College has been amazing. I have been a witness to words and actions from peers and professors that definitely have been pleasing in God's sight. During times of difficulty or blessing, there have been words of encouragement. Whether it was a note in my mailbox or a high-five during pick-up basketball, other's actions have shown me love. Now as I leave this place, I reflect on all the moments and relationships. I came to college for an education and I am leaving with more than just factual knowledge. I have been taught by friends and mentors how to live out the Psalmist's desire. Now may I live with words and actions that are pleasing to God, and take the love I have received during the last four years and show it to those I meet in the future. My parents told me that college would be the best four years of my life; their prediction came true and I could not express my time here without any other sentiment but, THE BEST!

Jesus commands us to "go." Go. Not sit. Not let them come to you. Go. Go find those who need to hear about God's love. Go seek out those who do not know about Jesus' death and resurrection.

It is a call out of our Holy Huddles and into the real world, where real people are really hurting. This is not an unambitious call! It is not just a call for our little Universe, where we are the center of existence. It is a call to the entire world! We are not to stop until every man, woman, and child has heard the gospel. Now, I am as guilty as the next person of neglecting the Call.

It is far too easy to sit back and assume someone else is going to take care of everything, but that is not what Jesus had in mind. At no time after receiving the Call did any of the disciples throw in the towel and say, "Well, that's it.

We've reached enough people." No! They were determined, through God's strength, to continue on until it was completely, 100%, undeniably fulfilled. It is our job, our duty, our Call, our mission, to do the same.

"Never be afraid to trust an unknown future to a known God." ~ Corrie Ten Boom

We have passed the halfway point. We are now entering the time in our lives in which we must think about the future. We only have one more year of the comfortable feeling of our friends here on campus. Let's enjoy every minute of it. Before you know it, we will all be in different areas across the globe, each of us doing something new and exciting. Let us find a balance between looking back, looking forward, and enjoying what is ours in the present. Value your friendships, value your education, and value the spiritual community you are in. Look at everything you have been blessed with and use it as you begin this next stage of your life. As we enter our senior year, let us treasure all that we have and appreciate what we have been given over these four years.

Your council has worked hard in trying to create lasting memories that we can talk about for many reunions to come. The Junior/Senior banquet was our biggest accomplishment this year and was well worth the effort. Our trick-or-treat can drive for the Quincy Crisis Center was a huge success, as well as the community service for Rehoboth ministry. We have worked hard and had a lot of fun at the same time. Thanks to all those that have helped us. Reba, thanks for being the coolest advisor ever. We are excited for the next year and what is to come.

Sophomore Class

By now we have become much accustomed to the "independent lifestyle" of a college student. Relentlessly striving to achieve the academic excellence college life demands, along with maintaining the social obligations that your friends demand, and your psychological needs after the almost inevitable academic strife. For most of us, the past two years have meant changing our lifestyle to face these new responsibilities head on, and become better people for doing so. We are more than students in our second year of specialized study; we are constantly challenging ourselves to become better members of society through our experiences both in and out of the classroom setting. That is what it really means to be a Sophomore at Eastern Nazarene College!

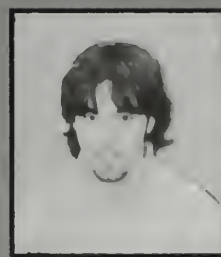

However, take a deep breath! We have reached the halfway point and are now over the hump. This statement either comforts you knowing that your college career is almost over, or troubles you for much of the same reason. Whichever way you choose to perceive this insight, remember one thing. We still have two more years of learning and growing ahead of us here at ENC, which we are sure to remember and cherish for the rest of our lives. I personally cannot think of a better group of peers to carry on my college experience with than those in this class, and I thank God for that.

In Christ,
Matthew Conte

Freshmen - Class of 2006

Joe Millette (President), Stephanie Wege (Vice President), Corrie McLaughlin (Administrative Assistant), Katelynn Shaw (Social Life), Donald Glisson II-(Chaplain)

We have been waiting our whole lives to be in college and here we are. Many of us will start to worry about the whole college thing, but in times of need turn to the Bible. "Therefore I tell you, do not worry about tomorrow for tomorrow will worry about itself. Each day has enough to worry about." (Matthew 6:34) He is simply saying not to worry because each day will worry about itself. The majority of us come here as strangers. You have none of your friends that you have known your whole life, no teammates to know exactly where to pass to on the court, and no home cooking from your parents. You start a new life, a new identity, and a new attitude. We come together as brothers and sisters in Christ, to make new friendships and relationships, and to unite as one class and one school. We all have our differences but they cancel out because we are all starting over as freshmen in college. The year was full of laughs, praises and prayers. As the class of 2006, we have made it past the "beginning" of freshman year. We look forward to all that God has in store for us in the future years to come.

Clubs & Organizations

• In the beginning the student body

SGA - Executive & General

Executive SGA was busier than ever this year. SGA is continuously trying to increase and improve activities, events, meetings, and all else that the organization does. In addition to this, SGA had some unique responsibilities and opportunities this year.

The Director of Social Life, Keri Miller, planned a very successful Welcome Week, a Justin McRoberts concert, Shane Barnard concert, and several other activities throughout the year. Ryan Scott, Director of Recreational Life, maintained a very successful Flag Football season, handled more teams than ever during J-Term Basketball, and instituted some much-needed rules and policies for the intramural program. Addison Cooper was busy organizing our various ministries and making a personal and concentrated effort to increase ministry participation, particularly among commuter students. Bryan Olds, who may have been the hardest worker in the student body, was our Administrative Assistant for the second year in a row, occupied with all that position entails as well as making sure everyone else was in line. Aaron Wilson successfully sustained a balanced budget and carried SGA over with a surplus for the second year in a row.

Of course, this is a very small, unrepresentative list of items that we accomplished. Certainly spring executive election with 25 candidates and the hosting of NSLC 2003 is notable and worth mentioning. I praise God for the officers we have had in office this year, and thank Him for the opportunities He gave us in serving the Student Body of Eastern Nazarene College.

~Jeremy Scott

The Election Board is responsible for overseeing all SGA related elections. We are the ones who are locked up for hours after every election making sure the tallies are counted exactly. Just member, were not the ones to blame when the vote doesn't go the way you wanted it to.

General SGA went through an interesting year. We started with a few missing members. We eliminated two positions (AWS President & AMS President). The middle of the year was tough - it was hard to be motivated this year...But the year ended strong, with a full membership and some great activities. We thank the Student Development Office for their continued support and guidance, particularly Amanda Marble, the Student Development Liaison to student government. We thank all those who participated and maximized our events. We thank the student body for allowing us to serve. Most of all, we praise God for all that He has given us - the responsibility, opportunity, and ability.

Nautilus

The mere fact that you are reading this write-up is a true testament of the miracles that God can perform. When the book's first editor left after J-term, without a page being completed, it took the new editor, Martha Jackson, a few changes, and a handful of dedicated staff members to give the 2003 Nautilus hope of being completed by the end of the year. There were days that it seemed there would never be a yearbook, but with faith, everything worked out.

Commuter Council & Athletes In Action

Christina Duncan-President

The Commuter Representative is elected by the commuters. The Representative's job is to be a voice for the commuters in General SGA. Several events were planned to help commuters get to know other members of the ENC Community. It has been a great year.

Athletes in Action served as a time where student athletes could come together on Monday nights and sit down in a small group setting to challenge and encourage one another. It was time where we shared our frustrations and praises both on and off the field. At each meeting one person prepared a lesson that they wanted to share with the group. The goal of AIA is for athletes to leave feeling encouraged but also challenged to go engage their team and personal life with a Christ-like attitude.

Verse of the Week & Prayer Warriors

Verse of the Week is a small but powerful ministry on campus that provides faculty and staff with encouragement through scripture each week. We are dedicated through prayer to uplift the members of our community and to provide them with reminders of God's precious love.

-Verse of the Week-

Co-leaders: Nancy Fontaine and Sileshi Mebrate

Members: Addison Cooper, Noel Wilson, Michele Prevost, April Gonet, Luke Parsons, Melissa Helms, Angela Marciano, Judy Turmenne, Heidi Miller, Julie White, Andrew Hansen, Matt Levin, Ashley Foskey, Jeremy Scott, Kylie Streams, and Lisa Albano.

Officers: Alyssa Boardman and Dana Cramer
Members: Krista Spotts and Melissa Dilworth

Prayer Warriors meets Thursday nights at 6 p.m. in Angell chapel. We spend time with God, read from scripture, pray for each other, and pray for you, the students. Our main focus is devoting time to pray for the requests and praises of the ENC community, given to us through weekly chapel cards. Pray for us, and come join us sometime.

Student Ministries & Barnabas

-Student Ministries-

SMO Director: Addison Cooper; Members: Anne Marie Sousa, Andrew Rankin, Shavonne Brumfield, Sarah Hilton, Ben Scholl, Melissa Helms, Melissa Lowell, Nancy Fontaine, Sileshi Mebrate, Alyssa Boardman, Jana Cramer, Danielle Rasys, Wendy Miller, Julie Quinlan, Tabatha Forrest, Suzette Whetstone

Acts 11:23-24. Barnabas has been a blessing to those involved this year, and hopefully to those on campus. Our goal has been to uplift and encourage our fellow students, faculty, and staff. Thank you to all those who were involved in Barnabas this year. God bless, and have a wonderful summer.

The Student Ministries Organization is an umbrella for many student-led ministries. This year a new ministry, STAND, was started. Through Kids' Club, so many children came to accept Jesus. Verse of the Week encouraged the campus, as had Barnabas. JUMP and Immanuel singers performed as well as the Gospel Choir. Open Hand Open Heart served the Lord by helping the homeless, and Prayer Warriors met to pray for the campus each week.

JUMP: ACTS & SALT

In SALT Drama Ministries, we take on many characters and act out many scenes to try to reach our audience. If we reach just one heart for God than we have done what we have set out to do. ACTS (top) is a drama ministry focused on youth ministry. We see our mission as sharing Christ with others through having fun with drama.

Kids' Club & Open Hand Open Heart

-Kids' Club-

Co-leaders: Ben Scholl and Sarah Hilton; Members: Emily Van Hine, Lauren Boyd, Becky Hury, Ana Pimentel, Meredith Cummings, Joann Miller, Joanna Bair, Mike England, Kate Jamieson

Kids' Club is a ministry that goes into Germantown and evangelizes to the children of lower income families through the Bethel Church of the Nazarene. Our ministry has grown immensely in the past year. Kids' Club is a ministry that gives and receives blessings untold.

-Open Hand Open Heart-

Co-leaders: Shavonne Brumfield and Andrew Rankin

Open Hand Open Heart is a ministry that reaches out to the homeless in Boston. Every Saturday night we take in food, drink, clothes and most importantly, the Word. We talk and encourage them to live each day knowing that Jesus loves them.

-STAND-

(Students Tackling AIDS kNeeling Down)

Facilitator: Anne Marie Sousa; Members: Julie Erb, Martha Jackson, Susan Pierce, Julie Quinlan, Luke Parsons, Colin M. Chapman, Andrew Hanson, Bryan Olds, and Imani Seunarine

The purpose of the ministry is to educate the ENC community about the truth of HIV/AIDS, to serve the greater Boston community suffering with the virus through volunteering at local centers and assisting them, to lobby the government to provide economic support to combat the spread of the virus, and to pray for those who live and fight HIV/AIDS each day.

STAND's Consignment Shop

For two days during the second semester, STAND turned the Linda Whitling lounge into ENC's largest thrift store. Asking the student body to donate any clothes they didn't want anymore, STAND gave the school a chance to donate some extra change to benefit the AIDS relief in what turned out to be one of the year's biggest fundraisers.

The A Cappella Choir offers a chance for musical and spiritual growth. Prayer Partners and devotional times are an integral part of this musical ensemble. Fall semester took the choir to churches and high schools in up-state NY. Spring semester started with a tour of Metro NY and ended with our annual performance at Jordan Hall. This year's repertoire included early American music for our most recent CD and Bach's Jesus Meine Freude, performed at Jordan Hall.

-Lacrosse-

Women's Lacrosse has been in existence for five seasons now at ENC and each year has brought new faces and new experiences. We had seven new players, some experienced, and some having never picked up a stick. The fun of having a club is to learn new things, while praising God with our athletic abilities. With a change in our leadership, it was a slow start to the season, but with the work done, we built a good foundation for the years to come. We played Bridgewater State, Roger-Williams, and Regis College, and were able to enjoy the time we had. We look forward with great expectations for the season to come, and praise God for the talents He has given us in allowing us to play such an amazing sport.

This year the Honors Board has spent a great deal of time and effort in creating and amending its goals and by-laws. This process involved shaping and reshaping what were thought to be necessary and crucial elements of the Honors Program, as well as coming together for several meetings to share our thoughts and ideas along the way. As if this wasn't enough, we also planned and held various social events throughout the year for the entire Honors Program including a trip to Boston to see the play Medea, a Christmas party in December, and an end of the year barbecue. It has been a busy, yet also fun and exciting year.

~Jonathan Batchelder

The purpose of SASW is to organize and mobilize students who want to make a difference in their community and in society at large. Through various service projects, SASW seeks to improve the well-being of individuals, especially those who are vulnerable, oppressed, and living in poverty, and to raise campus awareness of and involvement in these important social issues.

MEN'S SOCCER

This fall our men's soccer team took a huge step by making it to the conference playoffs for the first time in quite a few years. We had high expectations at the beginning of the year with the addition of some young talent to complement our experienced veterans.

The season was filled with many close, exciting games. Unfortunately, many of them resulted in heartbreaking losses. None of them more heartbreaking than the 1-0 overtime loss to Gordon in the first round of the playoffs. Regardless of the results, this was an exciting year for a hard working team that is making huge steps in the right direction.

Clockwise from upper right: Jimmy Gardner looks on after his goal at the Homecoming game; Marco Debarros pushes upfield toward the goal; Senior captains, Frank Garland, Chris Russell, Nate Houle, and Neil Eash smile to give us a smile; The team huddles before game.

I am confident that next year the team will improve even more. Thanks Coach and girls for an amazing four years.

This year's cross country team had a new face. The team returned two men's runners from last year and one for the women, so needless to say, the team was made up of almost all newcomers. This year featured the amazing performances of Chad Bantjes and Jen Donatelli, two freshmen who led the ENC team all year long.

Led by Ed Gardner, the best coach at ENC, the year started off very promising as ENC placed second at the UMASS Maritime meet. The season continued with tougher competition, but the ENC team fought hard. The season ended in the same way it started with a promising young core group of runners that can only get better as their careers continue. The prospects for next year seem to have ENC moving up in the ranks of conference competition.

I have been very proud to share in this past season with my teammates. I have never before seen a group of first time runners work so hard. I couldn't have picked a better team to be part of than this year's cross country team. PAIN IS LOVE!!!!

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

Heart and determination. In order for a team facing a record like ours to step back on the court each day, there needs to be an abundance of heart and determination. That is exactly what we offered to every team we encountered. Though it seems the past three years have been rebuilding years, I believe the foundation has been laid.

In spite of our record, there were a number of games in which we pulled a lead, or held a close game, against some of the top teams we played- putting more pressure on them to get the job done. It was a long season, at times each one of us wanted to walk away. Yet, God calls us to persevere in the midst of trials that is what builds character. Well, now that we have plenty of character to add to our heart and determination, we look forward to next season, stronger and better equipped to perform.

As we say in our huddle before every game: "All for the glory of God!"

Although the 2003 season did not live up to most of the expectations set for the Crusaders, the young team was able to play hard and grow together. This year saw the end of senior Shaun Reed's career. Reed broke the all-time career record for wins this year, and ended his five years with the team with a complete game victory against New England College. Fittingly, he ended the game and his career with a strikeout.

The team had many fun times this year. Many things will be remembered, including the Florida trip where guys met Manny Ramirez, invited Bill Pulsipher, as well as many others, to the "gun show," experienced Greenwell's, filmed "when Badgers attack" home videos, realized one player's fear of birds, and last but not least everyone caught "Shea Fever."

The team had some good performances as well. Some moments to remember were: the tough fought win against Wabash to start the season; the offensive outbursts against New Jersey City University, UMass Boston, and Wentworth and solid pitching from John Morgan and Jason McPherson. Another highlight was Leif Jansson, who hit .378 as a freshman and made second team all-conference. It was a tight-knit group that held together and worked hard all year. The team battled the weather-shortened season and is looking forward to getting back on the field and continuing its quest for a CCC title.

This year was full of surprises. A few major injuries and the illness of coach Wolf could have really put a halt to the season, but the girls really stuck together. It took a lot of heart, hustle, and hard work but the girls did a great job. With a very young and talented team made of mostly sophomores and freshmen, there is no reason why this team shouldn't go places in the next few years. With the help of our new coach, Linnea Anderson, and some strong senior leadership, I am certain this team will produce wins. Thanks to all the girls, this season had its ups and downs, but I had a great time. You are the best. I can't wait to see what happens next year!

Coronation this year was held outside on the church lawn, even with the chilly weather. But once things got rolling, no one minded the chill. All the class representatives looked wonderful, and we got to experience the return of last year's king and queen, Alex Vilcapoma and Tanya Miller. After introductions and lots of pictures, it was announced that this year's king and queen would be Nick Mucci and Roisin Knapp.

ENC STREET FAIR

This year's street fair was a treat as always for students and alumni as a time to reunite and a time to enjoy the street vendors. People could get their faces painted while enjoying cotton candy, pizza from SASW, grilled foods from the Junior class, the classic Dunkin' Donuts from the Gospel Choir, and the competing Krispy Kremes from the Wollaston youth group. As always, there were t-shirts to be sold and A Cappella c.d.'s to purchase, and this year you could even buy yourself a goldfish. Capping off the event was the second annual pie in the face competition.

Flag Football

Competition this year was intense, including a tie-breaker. Nick Mucci's team finally pulled out a win against John Cogan's in a hard fought championship game. All the teams competed on a level playing field. A great amount of talent showed through in spite of the cold weather.

POWDER PUFF FOOTBALL

Four teams competed for the victory this year. Despite the small teams, several games were played and fun was had by all. The serious coaching contributed to the championship game between Team Langille and Team Galbraith. The game was close, but Galbraith team pulled out the win to finish with an undefeated record and the championship.

Munro Monster Mash

This alternative Halloween party was held for the ladies of Munro by the R.A.'s for an evening of fun and bonding. There were games, dancing, and costume contests. There were a number of different categories, but the overall winner was Michele Provost as a fairy princess. Highlight of the evening was Heather Davis dressed as a character from Harry Potter.

BATTLE OF THE BANDS

The contest was a huge success this year with four groups showcasing their talents while trying to win over the crowd. Both popular and original music was showcased. The judges announce a tie between The Abolition of Man and John MacLeod who then performed an unexpected show-down for the prize. The winner was Abolition of Man.

Clockwise from top: John MacLeod; Mike Alvaro gets into his music; Dave Ardrey "Going the Distance" with his band; Rebecca Tsepas in her "bass face."; Patrick Pasik plays bass for "Abolition of Man," which placed first in the competition; Drew David and Chris Lee hosting the event.

★ Star Search ★

ENC's annual Star Search took place on November 12th this year, with thirteen different acts ranging from dance to comedy, to various musical performances. Senior Roisin Knapp won third place for singing Jackie Velasquez's "I Get On My Knees," and Senior Neil Eash won second place singing an original song of his own. The highlight of the evening was the performance of freshmen Melinda Toye and Rachel Manzo. They came in first place for singing a duet version of "His Eye is on the Sparrow."

(Clockwise from upper-left) Roisin Knapp singing "I Get on My Knees."; Ian and Jake Maysmith play a little tune from "Sesame Street."; Beauty singing to the Beast; Neil Eash sings an original.

¡BOCÓN!

by Lisa Loomer

February 14 & 15, 2003

Bocón! - Spanish for "Big Mouth!"

Clockwise from top: A drawing of the masks used in the play; Stephanie Wege, Beth Kenrick, and Clairees Mesel; Stefanie DeLeo; Tabatha Forrest, Julianne Hale, Beth Kenrick, and Clairees Mesel.

CAUSE Trip To Mexico

Clockwise from Top: Adrian Mills y Juan Carlos estan muy "chido"; Russ Milburn proves that Mexico's got nothing on him; Alayna Henck talks to her new friend at the church; The crew eats some "crazy corn".

Throughout the trip it was wonderful to see how much God stretched us as a team: we played in a basketball game that was a little more competitive than we thought it would be, we gave a forum on education to a group of university students, we painted trees in 90 degree weather. No matter what we did, God stretched us and allowed us to grow together as a team, and we learned so much. We came away from this trip having formed new relationships, gaining wonderful experiences, and memories of an amazing trip to Villaflores, Mexico.

~Alayna Henck

MR. ENC

The senior class hosted its "man pagent," as seven guys vied for the title of Mr. ENC. The contest this year had a superhero theme as the guys competed in the categories of, alter egos, talent, and a question and answer session. Nick Mucci walked away with another crown this year for his impression of "Cape Verde Man," based on his roommate, Gerson Semedo.

The indoor soccer season was an exciting one this year with a number of close contests. The competition was ruthless. Wladimir Rocha, Neil Eash, and Evan Waters had a great season for the guys while the girls had their share of rough competition as well. Amy Shoff, Vanessa Ayersman, Sabrina Modica, and Meghan Reardon fought hard to claim the coveted T-Shirt.

Neal Eash playing songs from his newly released cd.

Cupid's Corner

Mike 'n Mike listening to the contestants' outrageous responses.

Mark Spillane and Natalie Olterman know enough to win the big prize.

Adrian Mills and Lauren Boyd see if their new relationship can stand up to tough questions.

Jon Batchelder and Michelle Sowden prove that even a simple question can stump any relationship.

Missy Gunter smiles as she hears Brain Holt tell a story.

MOTHER - DAUGHTER WEEKEND

Clockwise from upper left: Laura Bostwick loves her mom; Gabrielle Vigue and her mom get crafty; Dana Goblaskas contemplates her mom's decision; Stacy Kieffer and her mom enjoy a little down time; Karen Churchill works well with her mom.

At Open Mic Night the masses came out to see what their fellow classmates had to offer in the corner of the Colonel's Coffee House. Some sang, some danced, some played their own music, but no matter what happened everybody enjoyed themselves and had a good time. At the end of the night, one thing was for certain: if you give a microphone to an ENC student you just never know what is going to happen next.

CLASS OF

2006

THE 2003

On April 7th, 2003, the NCAA Championship basketball game was the talk of the campus as the Kansas Jayhawks faced the Syracuse Orangemen in New Orleans. The freshman class threw a mad crazy party in Spange parlor complete with the game projected up onto a screen that went from floor to ceiling and ice cream and toppings for the low-low price of $1 a person. Syracuse dropped a record-paced 53 points in the first half, and when it was all said and done, Syracuse won the game 81 to 78. Syracuse freshman forward Carmelo Anthony was voted Most Outstanding Player of the Final Four, and the ENC Freshman class was voted coolest ever for hosting such a great event.

SHANE & SHANE

LIP SYNC

• What does the student body of
 • ENC and Milli Vanilli both have
 • in common? Answer: They both
 • love to walk around on stage to
 • music playing in the background.
 • Some of ENC's finest fakers
 • came out to strut their stuff and
 • compete for the judges vote.
 • Whether it was the Spice Girls
 • or some weird "Jelly" inspired
 • remix of Destiny's Child, the • audience was given a treat to
 • kick off the "Spring Fever
 • Weekend." In between sets,
 • members of the audience was
 • invited up on stage to give their
 • own shot at a lip sync.

Miss. Munro 2003

 This year's Miss Munro had a Barbie theme.
 The girls competed for the crown in the categories of talent, costume, and a question and answer section.
 There were many new and exciting Barbies that showed off their wonderful talents such as wrestling alligators, chirping as a bird, roller skating to disco music, playing the flute, country dancing, and showing off drill sergeant skills. But the winner, Julie Erb, was able to show everyone up with her interpretation of an 80's Barbie Rocker, dancing to Madonna's "Holiday."
 .....

Clockwise from top: Julie Erb gets her groove on as an 80's Rock Barbie; April Gonet represents 1st Munro; Danielle Rasys attacks Roison Knapp.

Spring Spring Fever Fever

Clockwise from top: Chad Restrick attacks the obstacle course; Chris Russell prepares to race; Katie Pruett and Christy Fairbairn show off their free t-shirts.

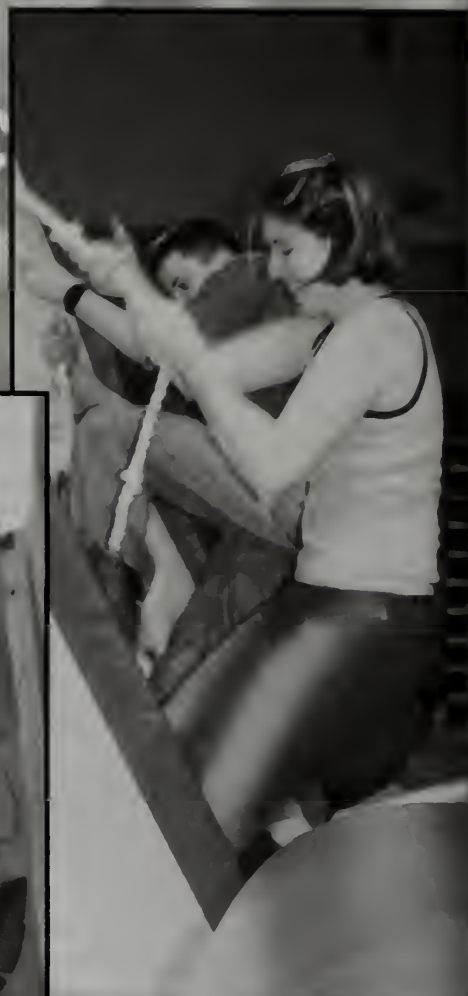

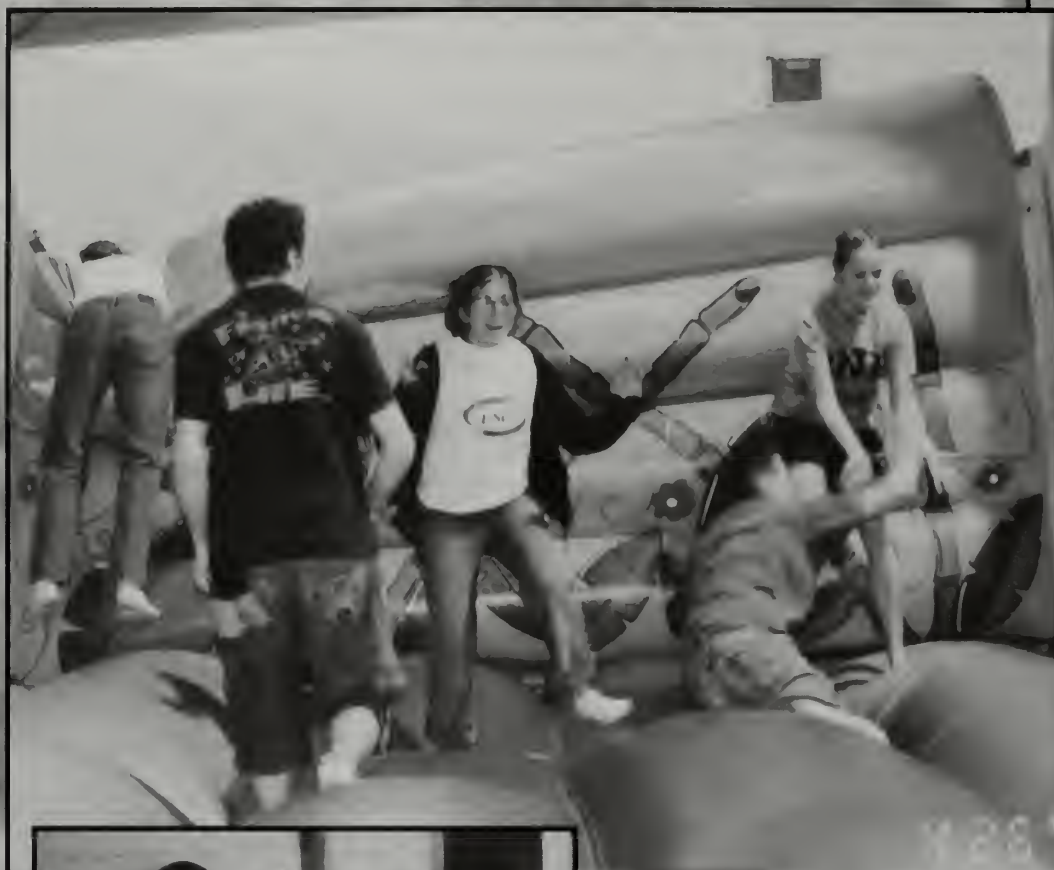

Clockwise from far left:
Jonathan Pastorius
'makes a wish' to hit the ball; Kirk Burelle and Matt Haringa approve of the toys; Melanie
Roberts and Meghan
Reardon enjoy the ring pool; Rachel Jester and Rachel Manzo take a break from the activities.

The Call

JESSIE, CONGRATULATIONS!

We are proud of you,
and we love you.

Mom, Dad, Caetane, Sammy

I remember the little girl sitting at the school desk. Now she'll be the teacher standing at the front of the room making a difference in the lives of children. "Train a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not turn from it." Prov. 22:6 Praise God for the passion He has given you for teaching. May you always be at the center of His will! Congratulations, Jacqueline! Love, Mom, Grandmom and Jillian

Angelique,

*We're so proud of you! You ran a good race and finished well.
What a great accomplishment!*

*We love you,
Dad, Mom, & Tim*

Shara Joy Krook

Everyday heroes go about their routine business of living, laughing and loving. They make sacrifices, not headlines. They touch hearts and change lives, have high hopes, low profiles... and the admiration of those who recognize them as true heroes.

For the lives that you've touched and offered hope... you are our true hero! We love you and are so proud of you!!!

Editor's Page

The Lord has taught me a great deal through this unexpected and challenging excursion of taking over the yearbook at the beginning of spring semester. With two years of editor experience in high school, I thought this would be a breeze, but I soon realized that I did not know what I had gotten myself into. I had half of a staff, no idea how to use the program this yearbook was made on, and an office that was painted a most sickly yellow color.

I remember the first time I walked into the office. I sat down at MY desk and began wondering what I should do. I have always had a plan in my life, for each day, with every detail gone over in my head. The thoughts going through my head at that point, were those of great confusion. "There must be someone that tells me what to do.

Where do I start? Do I even have a staff? How do I make an outside call with this phone?" What I realized then was that I had to do all of this on my own. There was no syllabus to refer to, no adult to ask advice from, and no direction. I had to make my own syllabus, I was the adult, and I had to establish my own direction. How did I do this? Well, you got me. I have no idea how I even came this far and put together a whole yearbook in a matter of months. All I know is that the Lord supported me all the way. He provided me with a cooperative and productive staff, a great amount of support from the ENC community, and an ability to call anyone to get anything I needed (such as with Wal-mart when they misplaced our pictures the day before our deadline and I somehow convinced the manager to drive to another town to get them). But the most important thing that the Lord provided me with was a new state of mind. This job required a great deal of PATIENCE (my middle name....really!) and flexibility. These are two qualities that I had not had before this opportunity came to me. In learning so much from this, I hope to be able to hold onto these qualities throughout my life.

During these past few months there have been several people who have helped get this yearbook into your hands today. First, I want to thank my staff, with all the hard work that they put forth in order to get pictures in, write-ups written, captions typed, and many other tedious tasks accomplished. But my greatest worker was Colin Chapman, who had done the layout for almost the entire yearbook. There were many nights where he would stay up all night long with me in order to put out a deadline. He dealt with the many computer crashes that we encountered, as well as my attitude from time to time. I definitely could not have done this yearbook without him (yes, Colin I am feeding your ego). Next I want to thank all of my photographers, including Krista Spotts and Andrew Rankin, for filling in and doing a great job. I would also like to thank Kara Reiman, who typed a great deal of names, addresses, write-ups, and captions. Second, I want to thank Alex Vilcapoma for standing by me even when he thought I had dropped off the face of the earth. He kept me going throughout this semester with so much encouragement and understanding. Third, I would like to thank my roommates, Julie Erb and Katie Prah, for putting up with my many frustrating comments and endless complaints. Julie especially helped me by editing this whole yearbook (Thank You so much). Fourth, I want to thank SGA, Gerry Whetstone (our advisor), and Anita Henck for all of the good advice and encouragement they provided for me. Lastly, I want to thank my parents, for taking on a great deal of my responsibilities because of my time restraints. Thank you guys for your prayers. For anyone else that I have forgotten, I am sorry, but it is late and this is the last page to be submitted. This has been a great year and I look forward for another yet to come.
